New York, Dec. 25 .- In marked contrast to the daughters of many of America's financial kings, who have squandered the fortunes of their sires to support the whims and extravagances of their titled husbands, is Miss Anne Morgan, the only unmarried daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, who for years has been spending her time and money in improving the conditions of thousands of poor working girls.

Her name has been associated with charity works of every variety, but her most recent step along these lines, and one that clearly illustrates the democratic character of this fair philanthropist, is her recent enrollment in the ranks of the Woman's Trade Union league in New York, in order to assist the forty thousand girl shirt waist makers who have been on strike for the past two months.

As a member of this organization she will pay the dues of $1 per year, and will be entitled to the same privileges and protection accorded the thousands of poor working girls, who are compelled to exist on a miserable pittance. She will thus be in a position to act as the girls' representative in bringing about a satisfactory adjustment of their griev-

I used several boxes of Cuticura Ointment and several boxes of Cuticura Cintilient and used Cuticura Soap all the time and her face was healed.
